Christine Raj is an accomplished artist using multiple mediums as well as alcohol inks. The Alcohol Inks workshop will suit people new to this medium and those who want to do more with these inks. Christine describes the workshop as an enjoyable inky adventure getting together with like-minded artists and splashing colours around.

These inks have an alcohol base and it is used to mix and blend the colours. They are moved around by blowing into a straw, paint brushing, scrunching plastic wrap, dabbing with cosmetic sponges, old credit cards, tilting the substrate, airbrushing, blending etc., etc. In this class you will also be applying an acrylic paint image either hand painted or stencilled.

Cost: $20 Workshops are not refundable or transferable. You can organize your own replacement if you can't make the class.
